DISASTER ONE PARTNERS WITH AMERICAN RED CROSS

Heart of Carolina Region
Corporate Partner

Greensboro, NC – May 15, 2012 – Disaster One, Inc. a leading disaster restoration company serving the Southeast U.S., announced today it has formed a corporate partnership with the American Red Cross. Disaster One will provide ongoing support to the American Red Cross with blood drives and will underwrite events and disaster prevention training. The company will also serve as a liaison between its clients and the American Red Cross when responding to emergencies which present a need for the organization's services.

The Red Cross in turn will provide its "Disaster Mental Health" training to Disaster One's first responders, technicians, and project managers who work closely with persons affected by fires, tornadoes, flooding, and similar disasters.

"We're excited to be united with the American Red Cross," said Rasmus Fenger, Disaster One President. "Our organizations have common purposes, which is helping people in times of great need following a disaster. This is a tremendous opportunity to align our efforts in a meaningful way."

"We are proud to announce Disaster One as our partner," stated Bill Brent, Executive Director of the Greensboro Chapter & Regional CEO of the Heart of Carolina Region. "We look forward to collaborating together to ensure that our community is able to prevent, prepare for and respond to emergencies."

ABOUT THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

Since its founding in 1881 by visionary leader Clara Barton, the American Red Cross has been the nation's premier emergency response organization. As part of a worldwide movement that offers neutral humanitarian care to the victims of war, the American Red Cross distinguishes itself by also aiding victims of devastating natural disasters. Over the years, the organization has expanded its services, always with the aim of preventing and relieving suffering.
